G.O.P. IS FACING SHARP CONTEST FOR MAYORALTY

1 More Candidates Announce Today; Bring List Up to Eight

TAYLOR FILES IN DEMOCRATIC RACE

A. P. Morris and Charles Wernet Seek Council-at-Large Places

The Republican majority fight at municipal primaries on Tuesday August 8, which, from all indications, will bring out a possible record-breaking number of candidates, today had attracted four more entries.

Harry W. Kesselmeier, James A. Probert and two former mayors, R. R. Johnson and George E. Russell, are the four new G. O. P. candidates, bringing the party's mayoralty aspirants to eight, while R. John Taylor today cast his hat into the Democratic contest against Norman Phillips.

The new G. O. P. mayoralty four-some lines up for the race along with four others, Mayor John M. Davidson, Charles D. Baker, Donald J. Buraw and George Hartoff, in the August contest.

The ballot board at East Liverpool before 6:30 p. m. Friday.

Seek Council Places

Two new candidates today announced for nominations as councilmen-at-large. They are Albert P. Morris and Charles Wernet, while two others, T. Vaughn Yates, seeking a second term, and L. E. Allen, have previously announced.

So far six contests, five of them Republican, appear on the two party tickets.

The complete list of candidates having either filed or announced themselves follows.

Shaving Brush Is Cause of Court Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 8.—George T. Nichols has filed suit for $50,000 against a store, alleging a shaving brush it sold him infected his nose and made it swell to twice its normal size.

He asserted it was "a great humiliation to carry around an infected nose," and added "no one can feel frank and free with his family and friends under such conditions."

Death Toll Eight As Ohio Hopes for Relief From Heat

Mercury Records for Day Are Broken at Various Points in State As Torrid Wave Continues; Three Boys Drowned

Ohio residents today looked forward to thunder showers and cooling breezes to bring them relief from June 7 record-shattering temperatures which took a toll of eight deaths over the state.

The mercury continued to rise in Salem with temperatures of 90 reported at noon today at the disposal plant. This was an increase of two degrees over noon of yesterday. It was 78 at midnight, the mercury dropping to 65 at 6 a. m. but took sudden rises which brought it up to 90 six hours later.

Downtown thermometers showed the mercury at various points, from 94 and 98, unofficial observers reported this afternoon. It was without doubt 1933's hottest day.

The Associated Press reported three boys drowned and a farmer died from a heart attack induced by the heat as temperatures ranged in the 90s and at Cleveland, Findlay and Sandusky set all time marks for the day.

The 91 reached at Cleveland exceeded the previous June 7 high of 90 set in 1889 while at Sandusky and Findlay readings of 99 were reported as the highest for a June day in history. The previous top at Sandusky was 97 in 1925.

Other high marks included 98 at East Liverpool, 97 at Toledo, and 94 at Columbus and Cincinnati.

At almost all points, the heat continued stifling far into the night. Cincinnati, for instance, reported 89 at midnight, and Cleveland residents got what sleep they could in a midnight temperature of 84, only seven degrees below the day's highest mark.

William H. Lundergan, 75, near Marion, was the farmer who died. Physicians said the excessive heat was a contributory cause of his death.

The drowned boys were Richard Bush, 11 of Cleveland; Jack Patton, (Continued on Page 8)

Plan Funeral For John Eyer, 82, In Alliance Friday

ALLIANCE, June 8.—Funeral services for John Eyer, 82, retired pioneer cheese manufacturer and wholesaler who died Tuesday at his home, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. Friday at the Reformed church in charge of the pastor, Rev. Elwood Sommerlatte. Interment will be in the Alliance City cemetery.

Friends may call at the home, 73 West Oxford st., from 7 until 9 tonight.

Mr. Eyer, who retired a number of years ago after gaining wide distinction as an expert in the Swiss cheese industry, was at the time of death vice president of the Alliance Clay Products company and a vice president of the City Savings Bank and Trust company.

Born near Berne, Switzerland, January 1, 1851, Mr. Eyer came to this city when he was 23 years old and had remained a resident through the intervening 59 years.

Seeing the possibilities for the development of the cheese industry, with which he became acquainted in his native Switzerland, Mr. Eyer began the manufacture of cheese and became the first wholesaler of the product in this section of the country.

He was a member of the First Reformed church, the Elks and United Commercial Travelers.

He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Beutler Eyer; three daughters, Mrs. Carl Tanner, Mrs. J. Warren McCord and Mrs. Elton Biery; and a brother, Chris Eyer, all of Alliance. Eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive.

Gnats Force Giant Airplane To Land

SALT LAKE CITY, June 8.—Salt water gnats forced a giant army transport plane to land on a mud-island in Great Salt Lake.

When the plane was extricated from the mud and brought in to be tuned up, mechanics found the screen filter of the carburetor clogged with thousands of gnats.

60,000 EXPECTED TO WATCH TWO MAXES BATTLE

$250,000 Crowd Is Seen For Schmeling-Baer Fight Tonight

GERMAN REMAINS HEAVY FAVORITE

No Title at Stake, But Bitter Punching Argument Looms

By EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The prospect of a knock-down, drag-out battle between two of the hardest hitting foemen in the heavyweight division, Max Schmeling and Max Baer, stirred the fight faithful today to the point where 60,000 of them, paying perhaps $250,000, planned to move tonight on the Yankee stadium.

There was no title at stake, nothing but the prospect of one of the bitterest punching arguments the big fellows have staged in years, but it was glamorous enough to warrant Jack Dempsey's prediction that his first metropolitan venture as a promoter would draw the kind of attendance usually reserved for a title fray.

In fact, business boomed to such an extent that choice ringside locations that had fallen into the hands of speculators brought as high as $25 for single seats originally priced at $10. Cheaper seats in good locations commanded $18 each.

Maxie Big Favorite

While the last minute rush for space turned Dempsey's fight headquarters into something of a bedlam, the warriors quietly prepared for battle.

Max Schmeling, a strong favorite at 215, motivated in from his training camp at Lake Swano, was to be in time for the weighing in ceremonies this afternoon, while Baer, who arrived here yesterday from Atlantic City, was domiciled somewhere in the quiet of the suburbs.

For a match in which one man so overshadowed the other in the betting odds, there was unusual interest and a tremendous amount of argument.

Schmeling, perfectly conditioned, as is Baer, had caught the eye of most of the experts, gathered here from as far west as California and as far south as Texas.

Baer, young, cocky and powerful, has an advantage of about 20 pounds in weight and inches in height and reach, but the great weakness found in him in his training camp workouts has been his lack of defense.

He has never been floored, believes implicitly in the ability of his chin and massive body to absorb punishment and wades in recklessly, a large and easily located target.

Important to Schmeling

For Schmeling, it is pretty much the end of a fighting career that was inspired by a visit Jack Dempsey made to Germany many years ago, developed abroad, then bloomed suddenly out of obscurity five years ago here.

In 1931 he won the heavyweight title on a foul in four rounds from Jack Sharkey, then lost it to the sailor last summer on a decision in 15 rounds. If he wins this one, Schmeling is certain to get the first chance at the winner of the Sharkey-Primo Carnera match, June 29.

DIVORCE PLANS ARE CONFIRMED

Elliott Roosevelt Will Permit His Wife to File Action

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—After disclosing that her son, Elliott, would establish a residence in Nevada to permit his wife to seek a divorce on the grounds of incompatibility, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt left suddenly this morning for Washington, D. C.

Her unannounced departure by plane ended a stay of less than 36 hours in Los Angeles where she came to visit her son.

Young Roosevelt, who only a short time ago became general manager of the West Coast Airline after leaving the east with the announced intention of obtaining a position, told a newsmen he would leave shortly for Reno.

The disclosure came as Mrs. Roosevelt left her hotel in company with Elliott en route to the United States airport at Burbank. Thirty minutes later the party left the United States airport for Reno.

At the hotel entrance Mrs. Roosevelt said in reply to a question that the divorce was in prospect and then Elliott at her elbow, confirmed his mother's statement.

Have Little Comment

Beyond the bare announcement that the divorce action was to be instituted in Nevada, neither Elliott nor his mother cared to comment much.

Elliott did add, however, that the divorce will be sought by his wife, the former Elizabeth Donner, daughter of William H. Donner of Philadelphia, industrialist, on grounds of incompatibility.

The couple have been separated since last year. An agreement is understood to have been reached as to the custody of their child, William Donner Roosevelt, born last November. They were married January 16, 1932.

GLOBE FLIER NEARLY OVERCOME BY FUMES

Has Close Call 600 Miles Beyond Omsk; Stabilizer Shattered, He'll Try for Krasnoyarsk to Make Repairs

(Copyright, 1933, By The Associated Press.)
MOSCOW, June 8.—Gasoline fumes from a leaking gas line, which almost overcame him in the air, forced Jimmie Mattern suddenly to land, near Prokopyevsk, Siberia, 600 miles beyond Omsk, Wednesday, the American round-the-world flier told The Associated Press today.

"I am still sick from those fumes," the Texan said in an exclusive telephone interview. He spoke from Belovo, a workers' settlement near Prokopyevsk, where he came down at 10 a. m. Moscow time Wednesday (2 a. m. in Salem), a few hours after he had started from Omsk, Siberia on the fifth lap of his round the world dash.

"I can't hold any food on my stomach, but I expect to get off from Krasnoyarsk in five or ten hours," he said.

"I was four hours out of Omsk when I discovered a leak in the fuel line, and by the time I found out what the trouble was, I was in bad shape from the fumes."

Almost Unconscious

He added that he was almost unconscious when he brought the plane down on a small emergency landing field at Belovo, the settlement.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Residents of Ohio who are vitally interested in taxation—and who isn't?—should pay close attention to the itemized account of the budget that has been proposed for this year and next year. Subtracting three quarters of a million dollars to refund certificate issues to finance the state office building, a sum which later will be replaced by proceeds from indebtedness notes, the sum of $40,538,070 has been requested. This is aside from money which will be used for highway construction and maintenance, and educational purposes. Needless to say, it has no connection with the program of new taxes which the general assembly seems determined to enact before the close of the current session.The itemized account of expenditures provides its own eloquent comment. More clearly than anything else could it shows taxpayers why expenditures are large. It reveals in how many directions the state's funds flow out and how they are absorbed in large amounts in quarters which rarely are remembered in ordinary conceptions of state government.For the state university, normal schools, universities receiving state funds and the state experiment station, Ohio taxpayers will expend close to 10 millions of dollars the next two years, almost a fourth of the total. These are extended functions of government.For welfare work, the largest source of expense, it will spend $12-$99,800 in the next two years. This is an added function of the state, but an essential one. The proportion of revenue it absorbs may be expected to increase in the years to come.The curious taxpayer passes on to items like these: state fair, $393,000; division of probation and parole, $246,000; state auditor, $201,000; national guard, $370,000; division of animal industry, $320-000 and ponderous requests from the various administrative departments. This is where the money goes—to feed Frankenstein monsters of public service which defy extermination once they have been turned loose. Heavy as taxes have become, they haven't yet produced any real movement to deflate government.

TEMPORARY OR PERMANENT

Hugh S. Johnson, who is expected to administer the industrial recovery bill, is reported to believe that one year's time is long enough for the licensing provision by which the federal government will be able to enforce the bill's provisions. By saying so, he makes of himself an important addition to one of two groups in Washington who disagree over the probable effect of legislation which gives the president of the United States power to regulate industry.The group which Johnson has joined professes to believe that political control of industry never was intended to be permanent. They argue that it will not be needed after the economic blues have been chased away by regimentation of employers and trade associations.
They look upon the provisions of the industrial recovery bill as specific cures for specific illnesses.
When health is restored, there will be no further use for the cure.The opposing group holds that political control of industry inevitably will be permanent if it works in the year 1933. This group argues that everything has been in this direction for a number of years, and that a collapse was required to drive home the point.
They point out that industry is asking for control as a means of saving itself. They believe firmly that industrialists will want to maintain whatever safety they are able to achieve. Industrial control—or the privilege of "self-con-trol, as it had better be called—is on trial as a national policy. If it proves successful, no one will want to get rid of it after a year.To most minds, the latter view seems more reasonable. Anything which proves valuable is worth keeping. Unless the industrial control which congress is preparing to provide for proves valuable, there is no use in wasting time on it. If it does prove valuable, there will be every reason under the sun for keeping it. If it is worth temporary adoption, in other words, surely it is worth considering as permanent.

Benefits And Dangers Of Sun

Even though some appear to forget it, most of us know that prolonged exposure to the rays of the sun is dangerous. I recently visited a friend who was recuperating from a severe sunburn. In the course of conversation he told me that he had fallen asleep while taking a sun bath.When he awakened he could hardly move. His body seemed to be on fire and he suffered marked agony. He was rushed to a hospital where he received the necessary treatment for the severe burn that he had inflicted upon himself.
My friend was dangerously ill for weeks and at one time little hope was held for his recovery.Gradual Exposure Of course, this is an extreme case, but the rays of the sun are strong and penetrating. The skin is easily burned by excessive exposure. The burn is similar to that received from fire or scalding liquids. Extensive skin burns from any cause are dangerous and may result in serious complications. Extensive burns covering a wide area of skin may be fatal.Everyone enjoys a good sun-tan.
It gives a healthy appearance and a feeling of well being. It can only be safely acquired by gradual ex-posure to the sun.Redness and tenderness of the skin are nature's signs of warning.
Bear in mind that exposure to the sun must be gradual and not increased in length until the skin has a protective coat of tan. Once the skin has this protection you may safely stay out in the sun for long periods.Curative Value Of Sun's Rays Though the value of sunlight as a means of combating disease has been known for many centuries, it is only within recent years that its really curative effect has been appreciated. The rays of the sun supply the body with certain substances essential to good health and nutrition. They are of special value in the prevention of certain childhood diseases.The rays prevent certain vitamin-deficiency diseases, such as rickets.
The child who has an abundance of sunshine will never have rickets.
This disease was formerly a common ailment of children who received little sunshine and fresh air.Sun baths are now given to the infant when it is but three or four weeks old. During the winter months when sunlight is scarce, or when weather prevents out-of-doors sun baths, cod liver oil should be given. This supplies the necessary vitamins developed by the rays of the sun and necessary for sturdy bones and healthy bodies.The value of sunshine cannot be overestimated. But the dangers of careless exposure to the sun must not be disregarded. Get your share of sunlight but do so carefully and in moderation. Never expose yourself to the sun rays for a long time until you have that protective coat of tan. And above all, do not fall asleep in the sun, as my friend did.Answers to Health Queries

What Others Say

STORY OF THE BODY
Embryologists have long believed that the growth of each individual repeats the story of the development of the race. Starting from the fertilized egg, a tail and gills like a fish appear. Then come the tubular heart and kidneys like many amphibians.
Dr. Charles B. Davenport recently carried this theory beyond birth, observing that when the human baby comes into the world it has a circular last like that of an ape. And the growth of our legs is reminiscent of tree-climbing ancestors. At first the thigh grows rapidly, becoming longer than the lower part. About 11 or 12 years of age the lower bones grow to catch up. Then comes the later development of the thigh again, a growth peculiar to mankind.The progress of the foot, likewise, tells a story of how we used to be.
Everyone has noticed the prehensile toes of a baby. In early childhood the foot is reminiscent of the gorilla and chimpanzee. But when the long heel and the heel-bone develop that is as unique and individual as the human brain. None of the animals grow the heels mankind does, just as none of the animals grow the thighs, or a brain such as the human being develops. The heel, the thigh, and the wide chest distinguish us from the lower orders as well as from our remote ancestors.—Detroit

By O. O. McINTYRE.

NEW YORK, June 8.—My night club days go back to the robust era of Charlie Journal's Montmartre, Bustanoby's and the later Palais Royal. They had innocuous gaiety but they were abloom with striking hedge-flowers. The other evening I visited several after long absence.
All were a ghostly array of empty white tables.Waiters leaned against posts and yawned. Young musicians tried to appear alert crouching over their instruments, but it was palpably feigned. It was as though the customers were attending a wake in evening clothes. The chief virtue was the atmosphere of frankness.No one was pretending to enjoy it.
Those who danced drifted in tired stupor. Next to the table where four of us dabbled bacon and eggs an elderly satyr gazed at a smirking girl with the same smile he will likely wear in Hades. Conversation, skimming a foolish surface, was in monosyllables. Not even a "wise money boy" was about.As a drab experiment in one place we gave vent to pre-arranged yawns in unison. The few stragglers, caught in its contagion, laughed, the only laughter. A frazzled girl served from her tranquil tread to point out a tuxedoed gangster. A miserable evening, costing our host $5.It was far more fun at a free lecture at the Barbizon-Plaza. After seated I discovered it was in foreign language. A tittuppy man wandered askew to touch a finger to his lips as a rebuke for unnecessary noise.
Somehow he incubated a flock of giggles. I struggled to keep my face straight, thinking of heart-wrenching situations and making up poetry, but finally raced to the exit where I let-go in whoops. It was the best laugh since Dick Berlin's bite into a leaky chocolate éclair good up the luxurious beard of the sedate professor on his right.Amor Carter's son, Amor Jr., was two-eked by a boyish shyness. His father decided it would be a good thing for him to sell the Ft. Worth Star-Telegram, the paper he publishes, on a prominent corner. Carter, Sr., was himself a newswriter.
The lad consented and after several weeks was invited to a newsboys' banquet. The father also attended, but his heart sank when the toastmaster called on the son to speak.
With the sangfroid of a veteran orator, the boy leaped to his feet and boomed: "Do you want me to speak here or out there in the middle?"Thingumabobs: Hendrik Van Loom

LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMELAnd You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to GoIf you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.
For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.
If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels.
Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.
It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, laxative, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.
But don't take liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.Thrift

TROUBLE BEHIND
MONEY

RED HAIR

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1933 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)CYRUS H. K. CURTIS, owner and creator of the Ladies Home Journal, the Saturday Evening Post and other publications, is dead at the age of 82. He began as a newsboy and ended with many millions, which he did not need and never valued highly. He was older than his age, had been ill for more than a year and had recently lost his wife, to whom he was devoted.
No friend would wish to bring him back to a world that is 90 per cent trouble.THE SECRETARY of the treasury asks the public to subscribe to $1,000,000,000 worth of government notes to meet the cost of a public works program.How will the contractors and workers on that program be paid? They will be paid with money printed and backed by the United States government.
Why not print the money and pay it to them, instead of borrowing it, and then paying interest on it?The money, with the government name on it, is exactly as good as the bond or note with the government name. Why insist on putting out bonds or notes to make taxpayers pay billions in interest?IF THE GOVERNMENT borrows $3,000,000,000 and takes 20 years to pay, the interest will amount to $6,000,000,000. In other words, $3-60,000,000 worth of work will cost $9,000,000,000. $3,000,000,000 for the work, and $6,000,000,000 for interest.You will be told that if the government should issue $3,000,000,000 of currency, not pay any interest, it could go on and issue any number of billions. So it could, but it would not. If you drink a glass of beer, you might go and drink a keg of whisky, but you would not do it unless you were foolish.The government's greatest asset is its ability to give the value of money to a piece of paper on which its name appears. Why should it pay in interest $6,000,000,000 for the privilege of paying out $3,000,000,000 of its own perfectly good paper money?THE Massachusetts League of Women's Haidressers says,
"Red hair will be popular this summer." Not too red, a sort of titan or Auburn, the hair worn just below the neckline.If your hair isn't red, you can easily make it so.Ladies of the pre-stone age, or ancestors, shivering on the edge of an icy pool, with some animal waiting to eat them if they cameout also had red hair, very red. But it came lower than the neckline, covering their bodies.Red hair is a survival of primitive days, and indicates surviving strength of character. Like the power to wiggle the ears and move the scalp, it indicates power to resist the processes of evolution.

The Stars Say:

For Friday, June 9

A rather dubious state of affairs is heralded by the prevailing planetary configurations. It seems that the welfare, happiness and progress are beset with perplexities and complications calling for wise counsel and acute business acumen. There is prospect of a beneficial contact with large corporations, merger or secret organizations, but all calls for alertness as to fraud, duplicity, trickery or misrepresentation. All these may react on the private affiliations.Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year of complications and perplexities, in both business and private affairs.A child born on this day may find its best success attained by diplomatic or subtle activities, inclining to shrewdness and expediency, but may suffer from its own glibness.SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Mrs. J. M.
Fittro, of Rogersville, drove her automobile to Springfield and parked at a garage. While attendants checked the machine one noticed a copperhead snake, three feet long, crawl from the tonneau and slide to the floor. The reptile was killed.Aching, Swollen FeetNo sensible person will continue to suffer from those intense agonizing, throbbing foot pains when every well stocked drug store has Moone's Emerald Oil and sells it with an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or money back.Your feet may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture—You'd give anything to get relief wouldn't you?Then get this:
Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.And best of all, offensive odor is gone for good—It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.Lease Drug Co. and every good druggist guarantees Moone's Emerald

LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.
Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year, has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.The reason for this is simple:—a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.

THE CHALLENGE OF LOVE

by WARWICK DEEPIING

your beloved poor did not prove themselves marvellous of sentimental loyalty and gratitude. I think I dislike the English poor a little more than I did six months ago—if that were possible.

I am writing to remind you that you are our doctor at "Pardons" that is to say, if you decide to stay in the neighbourhood. My impression is that you will shake off the dust and be gone.

Now—for our dear bourgeoisie—and the mob! Let me talk freely. Why should a man of great ability—and with some ambition—waste himself upon inferior people? It is a sort of fashion at times to stand in awed admiration before the "patient poor," and to sneer and hurl accusations of immorality and selfishness at the aristocrats. Believe me—there was never greater nonsense. I know something of horses and of men. Breed is everything. We better-bred animals know how to restrain ourselves. We learn to sneer a little, but we become too clear-eyed to be hypocrites. The English—in the mass—are barbarians. Heaven defend me from the comfortable, consequential dullness of the respectable middle classes.

Being a woman I can stand aside and look on with some amusement. With a man it is different. He has to shoulder the world. Therefore beware of inferior people. Inferiority means a mean way of looking at life, a mean way of judging motives. Little people are spiteful, pretentious, ever ready to fall into absurd little rages about nothing.

You ought to be busy with big things, big men, big ideas. You are too strong to fight with the little people in a provincial town. You hurt them, without meaning it, and then they go about furiously, to hurt you in return. I do not believe all that the religiousists say about love and self-sacrifice. They may be good for slaves—but a big man cannot live and work among little men, when he has pride and a staunch soul. It must lead to the inevitable disgust, cynicism, and scorn. Big men walk often with bare feet; so the little men spread thorns.

If I seem to write as a prig and a worldly one—I write as a friend. I am glad that Jess is out of danger. She is not little. She should help you in the future.

Believe me ever truly yours, Ursula Brandon.

"Elmer The Great," With Joe Brown, Coming Friday

Chalk up another home run for versatile Joe E. Brown, in his hilarious comedy-drama coming to the State theater Friday and Saturday—"Elmer The Great," based on the rollicking stage success by Ring Lardner and George M. Cohan.

Baseball Is Hobby To Brown
If Brown's batting average for knocking out comedy hits was high before—and there is no more reliable purveyor of comic amusement than he is—his score should certainly be at the top for his performance in "Elmer The Great."

There is every reason in the world why this story of big league baseball should fit the star. Joe's middle name should have been baseball for if making millions was his hobby, baseball is his hobby. In fact, it's been more than a hobby with Joe for he was once a player of some note himself. For several years he has maintained his own semi-professional baseball team in Southern California, and recently he bought a half interest in the Kansas city Blues.

Role Belongs To Brown
The authors of the story didn't have Brown in mind when they wrote it but the role of the Gentryville Indiana boy who modestly admits that he is the best batter the world has ever seen couldn't fit the star better than if he had been the model for the story.

"The Mummy" At State
"THE MUMMY," starring Karloff, plays this evening at the State.

Whether or not you believe in reincarnations and the like you will be thrilled and intrigued by this fantastic tale. "The Mummy" reaches back into the mists of antiquity and uncovers a love which existed 3700 years ago in the days of the Egyptian Pharaohs, but its main story is modern in background.

Karloff is excellent, as always. His mummy is so real, so death-like that it is almost unbelievable make-up could give such an appearance. He is supreme in his field of characterization. David Manners, Zita Johann, Arthur Byron and Bramwell Fletcher are others in the cast.

CHAPTER FIFTY-SEVEN

Dusk was falling when Wolfe counted Turpin in the stable-yard behind the white house at Eve's Corner. He had spent the afternoon in packing his clothes, instruments, and books, and in stripping the surgery shelves of bottles, ointment pots and pills. All these latter he stored away in the big hamper he had kept in the coach-house. He had unscrewed the brass-plate from the gate, cleaned it, and packed it away among his clothes. Such munitions of war might prove very useful in the future.

"I'll tell the carrier to call for my luggage, and these hampers."

Mrs. Loosely stood at the back door, a lone, sad, meagre figure, a white shawl over her shoulders.

"I can't help feeling sorry you are going, sir. It was a kind of a comfort having a doctor in the house."

Lamps were being lit as Wolfe rode Turpin down Peachy Hill. Raw draughts blew down the lanes and passages. In the market place the rickety coach that ran to and from Warrington station had just pulled up outside the porch of the "White Hart." Seen through the drizzle the lamps were blurred yellow circles. Wolfe recalled that night nearly two years ago when he had climbed down from the coach over yonder. It had been raining then, and he remembered the puddles and the hazy, wind-blown lamps.

Turning into Bridge Street he rode down towards the river. The narrow street was empty, the doors of the houses shut, the blinds of the shops closed. Wolfe saw a hot-draw sound on the cobble, but not a soul saw John Wolfe ride by. He reached the bridge over the Wraith, reined in there a moment, and sat looking at the black water sliding sluggishly under the diffused light thrown by the solitary lamp that burned upon the bridge. Presently he rode on and out of Navestock.

The mud of the lowland roads

I must make a fresh start, Mother. I am not quite the beggar I was two years ago," John went on.

changed to the sharper, sandier texture of the moor. Wolfe saw a light away towards his right, a mere spark in the midst of the blackness. Something white rose up beside the road. It was the white gate leading into the Moor Farm paddock.

The spark of light came from a lantern hung in the red-brick stable where John Munday was looking to his cart-horses. He came clattering out when Turpin's hoofs rang on the rough road leading into the yard.

"Bet you, Mr. Wolfe?"

"I'll leave Turpin with you, John. You'll be able to find room for him?"

"There be his old stall waiting," Wolfe dismounted, and passed the horse's neck before he turned to go.

"A dirty night, John."

"It be that, sir. Reckon I'd like to see a bit o' real winter soon."

Wolfe passed round the holly hedges towards the garden gate. The rain thickened and made a faint hissing sound as it fell upon the holly leaves. Level rays of light from the windows streamed out into the darkness. The great cypresses sighed as Wolfe passed under them.

He found himself holding Mary Mascall's hands in the hall where the brass lantern, hanging from a beam, spread out the light between its bars. Mary Mascall's eyes searched his. He spoke little more than six words to her, and saw that she understood. His face, wet with the rain, was gaunt, proud, but weary.

"Come in to the fire, John. Something made me keep our tea waiting. There's a plate of buttered toast on the table. Give me your coat, lad; I'll have it dried in the kitchen."

She saw the gratitude in his eyes. "Don't let Jess know yet. Mother."

"Of course not, lad. Just you sit down and get warm."

She watched the firelight playing upon his face.

"I must make a fresh start, Mother. I am not quite the beggar I was two years ago. I have saved about a hundred and fifty pounds down there."

Mary Mascall's hands lay restfully on her knees.

"I'm a woman of some capital, John."

He glanced at her sharply.

"No, Mother. I'd not take it, even as a loan."

She smiled tolerantly.

"There, how you fly out! You'll have it some day, unless Jess and I quarrel."

"Let it stay at that. We are young, both of us. A man must carve out his own corner. I don't want mine bought for me—by friends."

Mary Mascall put more wood on the fire. A cloud of sparks flew up, and vanished into the black throat of the chimney.

"About Jess?"

"Let the news wait a week. I can go out and pretend I am busy in Navestock. If you'll let me stay on for a fortnight—"

"Or course, John, that's a great favour to ask, surely!"

"Say, till Christmas is over. I'll tell Jess when she is a little stronger. Mother, I have got to do something. I have got to wipe this out of her heart."

OBSERVE GUEST DAY

The Junior Music club observed its annual Guest day with a lovely party Tuesday evening at the Salem Country club, west of the city, entertaining at this time members of the Salem Music Study club. Parents and friends of members of the Junior club were also included in the company.

A musical program was given, including these numbers: Piano solo, Dorothy McConner; saxophone solo, William Holloway, with Lois Dilworth at the piano; vocal solo, Rachel Cope, accompanied by Miss Dilworth; trumpet solo, Clair King, with Miss Cope the accompanist; vocal solo, John Paul Ollman, with Kathryn Cenna at the piano; reading, Dorothy Wright; clarinet solo, Margaret Megrall, accompanied by Miss Cope.

The table at which refreshments were served was prettily decorated in green and white tones, carried out in flowers and candles.

The party was arranged by the executive committee, comprised of Rachel Cope, Kathryn Cenna, Helen Palmer, Olin Dilworth, Duane Dilworth, Jean Harwood and Clair King. King, president of the club, presided.

The Junior club will hold its annual picnic, probably in two weeks.

STAR CLUB

As guests of Mrs. H. A. Shinn, members of the Star club met Wednesday afternoon at her home, Benton rd.

Vocal and instrumental music entertained during the informal afternoon.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Wilford Sheeley and Misses Mary and Mildred Sheeley, North Lima; Miss Letha Weingart, Goshen Center rd. and Misses Virginia and Helen Lora and Elizabeth Armstrong, Benton rd.

Plans were made for a strawberry and ice cream social for the members and their families on June 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fogg, Goshen Center rd. The next meeting is scheduled for September at the home of Mrs. E. A. Weingart, Goshen rd.

HARRIET WATT GUILD

When members of the Harriet Watt guild of the Church of Our Saviour (Episcopal) held a business meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Edwin Bowman, Ohio ave., plans were made for a lawn party on June 24 on the church lawn.

BIRTHDAY GATHERING

In honor of the 78th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Mary Harding of Youngstown, a number of guests were entertained at her home Tuesday evening. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Harding, Salem.

Bright Woman Lost 20 Pounds

FEELS MUCH BETTER

"June 28th, 1932, I started taking Kruschen Salts. Have lost 20 pounds from June 28th to Jan. 10. Feel better than have felt for four years. Was under doctor's care for several months. He said I had gall stones and should have operation. Kruschen did all and more than I expected." Mrs. Lute Bright, Walker, Minn. (Jan. 10, 1933).

To lose fat and at the same time gain in physical attractiveness and feel spirited and youthful take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

A jar that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle at J. H. Lense Drug Co., Broadway Lease Drug Store or any drugstore in the world but be sure and get Kruschen Salts the SAFE way to reduce wide hips, prominent front and double chin and again feel the joy of living—money back if dissatisfied after the first jar. Today's Pattern

FOR GRADUATION & PARTIES
PATTERN 2587

She'll be the sweetest girl graduate of 1933. Her frock is youthful in cut and fabric—no one she'll wear many times after the "Big Day".... and Fashion says this is new a young girl should look. The gracefully flared collar and puffed sleeves will flatter her pretty face. Pointed seamings of bodice and skirt are chic, and most important of all, a crisp ribbon sash and huge bow, for contrast!

Pattern 2587 may be ordered only in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 14 requires 3-5-8 yards 39-inch fabric and 7-8 yards 4-12-inch ribbon. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Send for the Anne Adams Fashion book, showing Paris-inspired models for every sewing need—all practical and easy and economical to make. Models for the larger figure, junior and kiddie styles; lingerie and accessory patterns are also featured.

COUPON

This pattern will be delivered upon receipt of 15 cents, coin or stamps, carefully wrapped. Latest Fashion Book 10c. Send all orders to SALEM NEWS PATTERN DEPARTMENT, 243 WEST 17TH STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

Mrs. George Hise and son, West Liberty, Ia., are visiting friends here.

Mrs. Marie Limestone, Salem, underwent a tonsil operation at the hospital.

PROBE TURNED TO INCOME TAX

Senate Committee Will Look Into Stock Transactions

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Unanimously the senate today extended the authority of its committee investigating J. P. Morgan and Co. for examination of stock transactions by which partners of the firm reduced their income taxes.

The committee simultaneously was hearing from O. P. Van Sweringen that the special corporation device used in some Van Sweringen railroad operations to escape income tax payment had on an occasion removed liability for tax on $13,665,000.

Testimony for the fourth day, the Ohioan gave his answers to Ferdinand Pecora—committee counsel—in a voice audible to few of the much-smaller-than-usual crowd.

J. P. Morgan and various of his partners again were present, but paid little attention to proceedings at the start.

The attitude the Morgan partners will take as a result of the latest senate move to uncover the income tax reducing transactions remains to be seen.

Their counsel, John W. Davis, refused to commit himself but did say that if the challenge of authority is carried further, the procedure will be for Thomas S. Lament—a young partner—to refuse to answer questions.

"That will put it up to the senate and will provide the means for a test," he told reporters.

BREAK DEADLOCK IN LEGISLATURE

Lawmakers Reach Agreement to Go Ahead With Important Bills

legislation was to be indefinitely postponed at noon today.

While technically the noon hour was the deadline for consideration of all general legislation was to be indefinitely postponed at noon today.

While technically the noon hour was the deadline for consideration of general legislation, the clocks were stopped and the lawmakers continued their work on pending bills. Leaders expressed the opinion that this work would continue far into the night.

COLUMBUS, O., June 8.—Unemployment insurance is a dead issue so far as the present legislature is concerned. The senate definitely defeated the unemployment insurance bill today when it refused by a vote of 21 to 8 to take the measure from its labor committee and put it on passage. The bill had been passed by the house.

White Is Blamed

Responsibility for defeat of the unemployment insurance bill was laid at the door of Governor White by Senator M. C. Harrison (D.) of Cuyahoga county. He charged that the governor had received many votes because he campaigned for a party platform declaration for unemployment insurance and old age pension. The governor, he added, failed to get behind the bill. "We have time to talk of a sales tax but no time to relieve the hungry," he said.

Senator Will P. Haynes (D.), Coshooten county, opposed the motion to take the bill from the committee. He contended the measure did not conform to the Democratic state platform.

DEATHS

MRS. L. C. BENNETT

Mrs. Minnie Bennett, 54, wife of L. C. Bennett, died at her home, R. F. D. 4, east of Salem, at 4:30 P. M. Wednesday. Complications, resulting from an illness of three weeks, caused death.

She was born in Waverly, Pa., and came to this vicinity 12 years ago from Pittsburgh.

Besides her husband, one sister, living in Elmira, N. Y., survives.

Funeral service will be held at the Arbaugh funeral home, East State st., at 9 a. m. Saturday, in charge of Rev. Dayton B. Wright. Burial will be in Smithfield st. cemetery, Pittsburgh.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday.

Auto Hits Train

TOLEDO, O., June 8.—An automobile ran into a New York Central passenger train near Millbury, Ohio, causing the death of Mrs. Mary Crile, 65, of Akron, and serious injuries to three other occupants of the car.

They are Franklin Crile, 65, husband of the dead woman, and Mrs. and Mrs. A. P. Waldman, also of Akron. Crile may not live.

"my skin became clear"

—wouldn't you like to be able to say this, too? Then pause a moment and reason... skin affections usually result because of lowered resistance from below the skin surface. Then help the blood that purifies the skin, by increasing its red-cells and restoring the vital oxygen-carrying hemoglobin in these cells so that more vitality comes to the tissues. This will increase the ability of the blood to devour infectious pimple germs. That is just what S.S.S. does—proved by tens of thousands of unsolicited letters of thankfulness.

"Shall I use a good soap?"—certainly—"and cosmetics?"—naturally, but first observe Nature's law and lay the sound foundation from underneath the skin.

S.S.S., in addition to being a valuable general tonic, has the special property of increasing the red-cells and restoring the hemoglobin content of the blood, when deficient. Try a course of S.S.S. and note the constant improvement. © The S.S.S. Co.

Reach for a Lucky
—for always Luckies Please!

Men aren't the only ones who know Luckies are better

We women know that there's always a good reason for everything. And when a cigarette is so unusually mild, so pure and fine-tasting as Luckies are—what other reason but "Toasting" could there be? No man has to tell me that fine tobaccos play an important part—but Luckies please me completely in still another way. My cigarette is such a personal thing—when I place it between my lips I want to be sure not to offend my sense of feminine daintiness. You men have your reasons for saying "Luckies Please!"—but with me it's the welcome purity as well as the flavor and mildness that "Toasting" imparts.

Odds Still Favor Schmeling In Clash With Max Baer Tonight

THE DAY IN SPORTS

LOON OF LIVERMORE
FACES MAX SCHMELING

MAX BAER, the Loon of Livermore, Calif., otherwise known as the Livermore Larruper or the Clouting Cuckoo, steps into the squared arena somewhere around 8:30 tonight, Salem Time, to do battle with Herr Max Schmeling, Germany's Sultan of Swat, in a contest promoted by William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey.

It's the first of two big fights scheduled this month—the next involves Champion Jack Sharkey and Pachyderm Primo Carnera—and a goodly throng of some 60,000 spectators will probably pay about $300,000 into Mr. Dempsey's pocketbook. It ought to be a grand embroglio, plenty of leather slung back and forth and, according to the dope, Herr Schmeling will be the winner.

Mebbe so and mebbe not. Mr. Baer, once a delightfully delirious character who liked his fun wherever he could find it, now claims to have settled down, says he's the next world champion and looks every bit like a great battler. In training he makes a better impression than does Max—but then, a couple of years ago Schmeling looked lousy in practice and Strubling like a world-beater. And you remember how that came out?

Baer the Eccentric has polished up his fighting ability, is, at least potentially, a great fighter, and has the backing of many fighter followers in his scrap tonight.

BAER'S lurid behaviorisms made him good copy for the newspapers for quite some time. He was declared a cross between the Hevess Horseman and the Mad Prince of Bavaria, given all kinds of negative qualities, such as being termed the Daffodil of the Ring Racket, but he is now trying to win back the good graces of his Public and show him that he has greater claim to fame than merely through his eccentricities.

Max has banged his head against an iron pipe in his dressing room to prove he's toughest and, his friends say, early in his fight career, he invited a sparring partner to crack him over the ear with his fist so he might have a cauliflower and thus proudly take his place among the journeyman workers of his trade. His reported idiosyncrasies at one time were many—today there's but one, and that's to lick Schmeling and then trim the winner of the Carnera-Sharkey tilt.

In weight, reach, etc., he'll have all kinds of advantages over Schmeling. But all these physical edges will go for naught, if Baer proves himself the dull-witted, slow thinking mug of some of his past battles. He'll have to do more than improve his punching and boxing—brains, even in this brainless day and age, have a little to do with winning a fight.

OF INTEREST is the philosophy which the fight game's Iron Duke, William Muldoon, who died recently, followed and kept posted on a placard in his New York office.

Go right and fear no man.
Don't write and fear no woman.
Muldoon, cynical as far as the fair sex was concerned, but always cavalrous, had no "affairs" with his members and never married.

HANNA ARROWS SET FAST PACE

Lead Lisbon League With Six Straight Wins; Holy Name Ahead

LISBON, June 8.—HANNA ARROWS, undefeated in six starts, are setting a fast pace in the Lisbon softball league, and hold first place in the circuit with the Holy Name tossers second.

Holy Name has won five and lost one while Christians are third with two wins and three defeats. Hadley Aces are fourth, Preststone Tires fifth, and the Bidgood Bulldogs sixth.

Holy Name defeated the Aces 3-1 in a league game yesterday as Kelly held the foe to five hits. Lineups:

POTTERY SCORES EIGHT IN FINAL TO BEAT TOBIES

Season's Biggest Rally Gives China Outfit 11-10 Triumph

The season's biggest rally, one that netted eight runs, gave the Salem China company team an 11-10 victory over the United Cigars in a thrilling Class A league fray at Centennial park field Wednesday.

Face 10-3 Handicap
The Cigars, scoring in every frame but the first, held a 10-3 lead as the Pottery came to bat for their half of the seventh and last inning. Apparently doomed to defeat, the hard-scrapping china-makers sent eight runners across the plate to pull through with the decision.

The Deming company team pulled a big surprise by upsetting the Salem Hardware team, 7-4, in the second game on yesterday's menu. The pump-makers tallied six runs in the first.

Two Games Today
The Hardware tackles the Schafer Billiards in the first game today with the Mullins and Famous Dairy colliding in the nightcap.

MOTORISTS GET NEW BAIL BOND

Added Service Announced By Columbiana County Motor Club

The Columbiana County Motor club has added a new service to its long list of personal services and community activities.

The club now offers to its members a $5,000 bail bond to be used in case of arrest for violation of motor vehicle laws.

This is a protection, Manager A. P. Morris announces, in speed-trap arrests and in circumstances involving injury to person, or property damage while traveling in this or other states. This bond has been adopted by the club for member protection.

Serves Public Well

Organized in 1924, the Columbiana County Motor club has rendered invaluable community service. It has championed good roads and improved streets, has sponsored school boy safety patrols in this and other communities and has furnished safety lessons and posters in the schools in Columbiana and Hancock (W. Va.) counties.

Through close cooperation with county and state officials the club has the district well marked with route signs and danger signals, and has saved motorists much money in effective effort directed against "gyp" clubs, insurance schemes, service contracts and other swindles aimed at motorists.

Has Many Phases

The club has fought speed traps successfully, has given motorists 24-hour service in road emergencies and information, each year pays many claims for personal injury through an accident insurance policy for motorists; issues the widely known A-1000 series license plates and gives year round service on transfers, tag replacements and other things.

Free notary service, safety deposit for bills of sale belonging to members, special attention to brakes, tires and batteries and reward system to discourage theft of motorists' property are also among the worry relief service offered club members in addition to a general community service.

Cut Milk Price

CINCINNATI, June 8.—Because of what they described as "widespread demoralization" in the Cincinnati milkshed, distributors affiliated with the Cincinnati milk exchange today cut the price of their product from 10 cents to 9 cents.

Consumers in Hamilton and northern Kentucky are affected, as well as Cincinnati.

STUDEBAKER SCORES AGAIN

IN INDIANAPOLIS
500-MILE RACE!

Only 14 of 42 entries finish fastest race in Speedway history

Seven of them are Studebaker powered!

Five of them are 85% stock Studebakers!

Every one of the five goes through race without a single repair!

FOR the second successive year, Studebaker stamina and performance were the sensation of the classic 500-mile race on the Indianapolis Speedway.

When the starting flag was flashed, 42 of America's greatest racing cars—most of them costly, hand-built engineering masterpieces—roared down the straightaway. But only 14 cars were able to finish the 500 miles—and 7 of them were Studebaker powered . . . including 5 regular factory-built Studebakers, only slightly modified in a few details to conform with racing requirements.

What better proving ground could you ask for the car you intend to buy than the 500 gruelling miles at Indianapolis which were covered in sensational time by the 5-car Studebaker team without a single repair? Arrange today to ride in one of Studebaker's new Automatic Automobiles—the cars with 12 uncanny "mechanical brains" in which you have scarcely anything to do but steer.

America's best-built, best-looking, best-performing low-priced car is Rockne Six—built by Studebaker and a Studebaker in everything but name.
